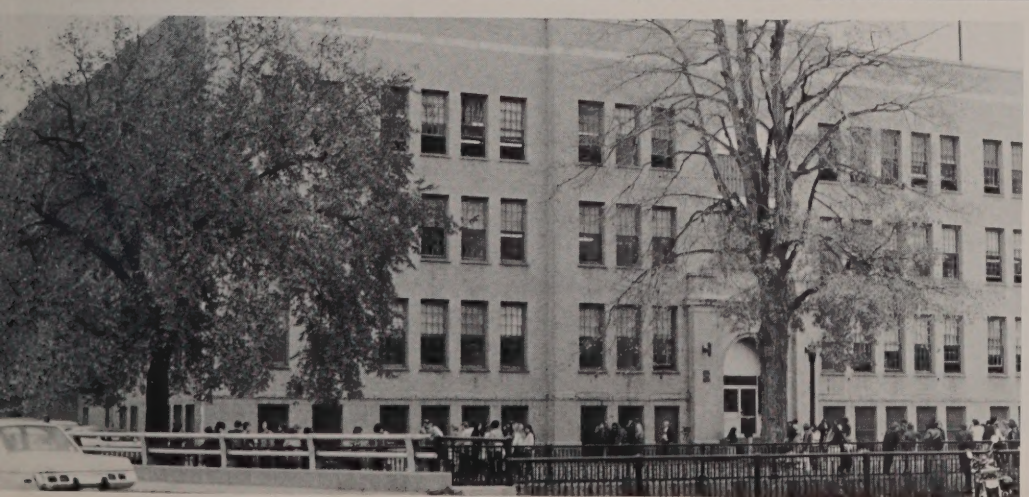
Lowell High School is: reading and 'riting and 'rithmetic . . . freshman year at Keith Academy, the Robinson, or the Daley, depending on which part of the city you came from . . . the Annex, the "old" building, and the "new" building . . . looking into the canal for any signs of life . . . walking to the Annex in a downpour . . .



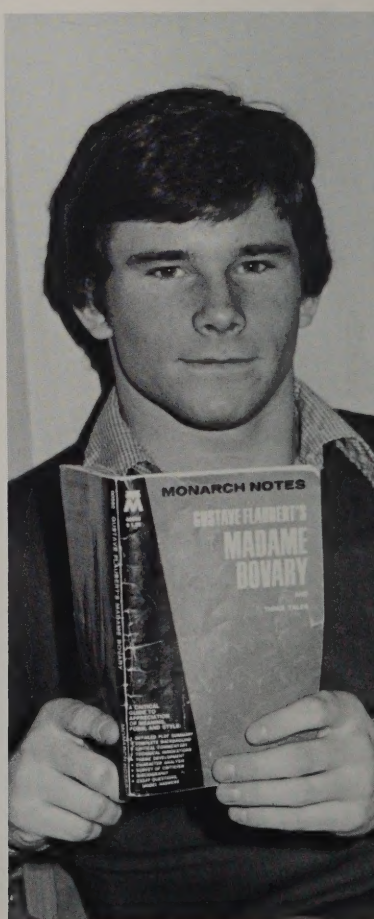
"The rowdiest bunch in years" . . . forgetting to go to class because you were too busy talking to your friends in the cross-corridor . . . the spirit you feel when Lowell annihilates Lawrence on Thanksgiving Day (remember how the stands were packed on the Lowell side) . . .

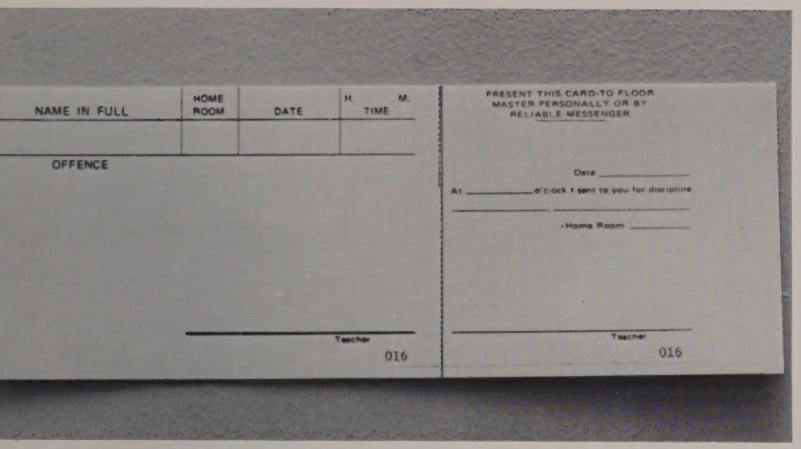
meeting new friends but still keeping the old ones from junior high . . . skipping boring assemblies . . . "the clowns" at the Thanksgiving Day game . . . eating "twins" for lunch . . . trying to get your car out of the parking lot along with 100 other impatient kids . . .

army-drab green lockers . . . co-ed health only 6th period . . . desperately wishing you had studied for your finals for a change . . . eating lunch R_1 when you're a freshman then having to control your hunger pangs when you're a senior until R_4 . . . term papers . . . two years of AP History . . . the owl in the tree outside the teachers' room . . .

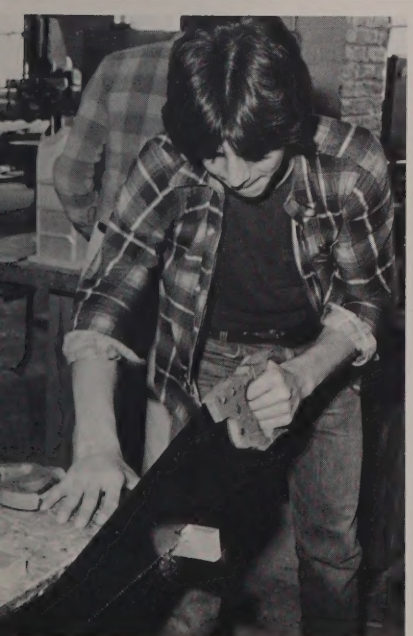
"the senior seat" . . . running down to Prince's during lunch to buy a trot for your 6th period English class . . . the Project ADD Rally . . . the Air Force Band coming to an assembly . . . being late for class because you were outside smoking with your friends . . . going to night school . . . wearing red and gray . . . covering your books the first week of school then ripping the cover off by the second week . . . the Colgate 13 coming on St. Patrick's Day . . . getting your senior picture taken and re-taken . . . going up the "down" staircase . . . panicking when your lock gets ripped-off the first time, then losing your temper by the third time . . .

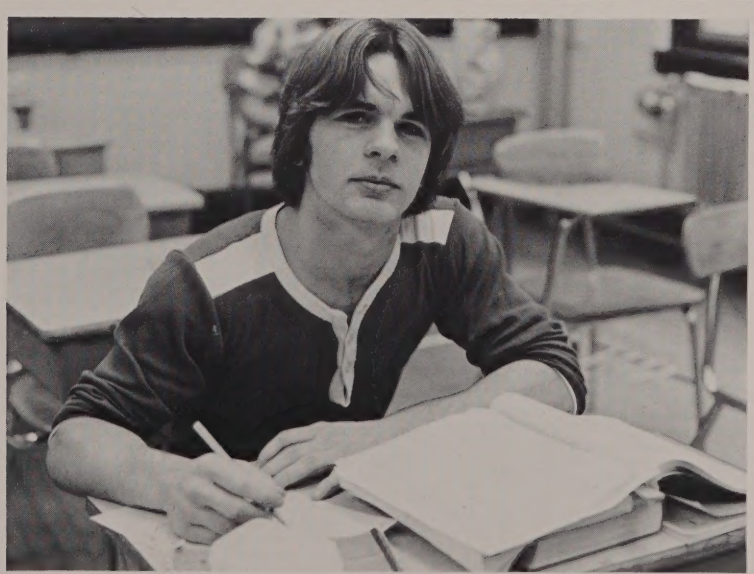
number 2 pencils and erasers . . . the change from Girl Officers to Lowell High School Officers . . . the unofficial senior skip day when the Army "tried" to give us the ASVAB tests (350 seniors absent) . . . the change from Field Day to Sports Night . . . girls asking boys to the Harvest a month and a half in advance . . . "Daily notice for . . . " . . . getting up early to be in school for 7:25 . . .





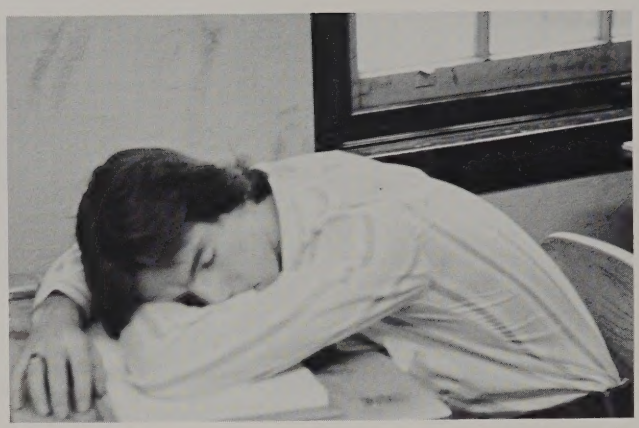
the assignment cards . . . looking out the window and wishing you were out on Lucy Larcom instead of in the Nurse's Office . . . co-ed gym only 4th period . . . the beginning of volleyball and softball, the end of the swim team . . . going to detention after school . . . Greek Dances at the Speare House and Windsor (remember how we used to get in by passing the ticket stubs around?) . . . trying to learn every little detail in the little blue book so you would pass your permit test the first time . . . the Cheerleaders' Victory Dance . . . copying homework . . . "We are the Champions" by Queen . . .

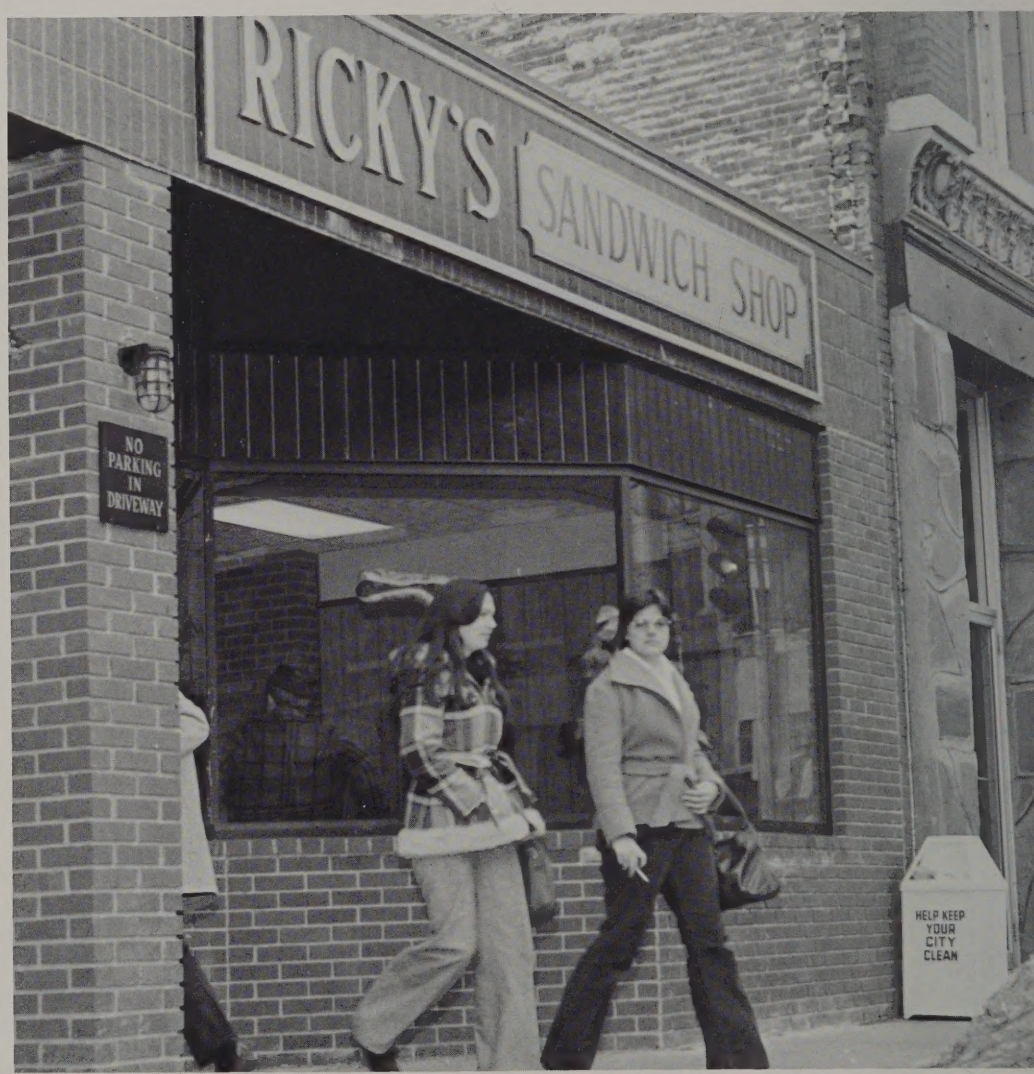




passing the U.S. History tests around . . . writing your name all over the desks and walls . . . the caf's new paint job . . . partying "down the Road" and hoping that you would not get caught . . . the change sophomore year from having Mr. Sullivan as Headmaster to Mr. Stamas . . . crying with your friends when you made Girl Officers . . . having seven days off in a row for a snow storm junior year . . .

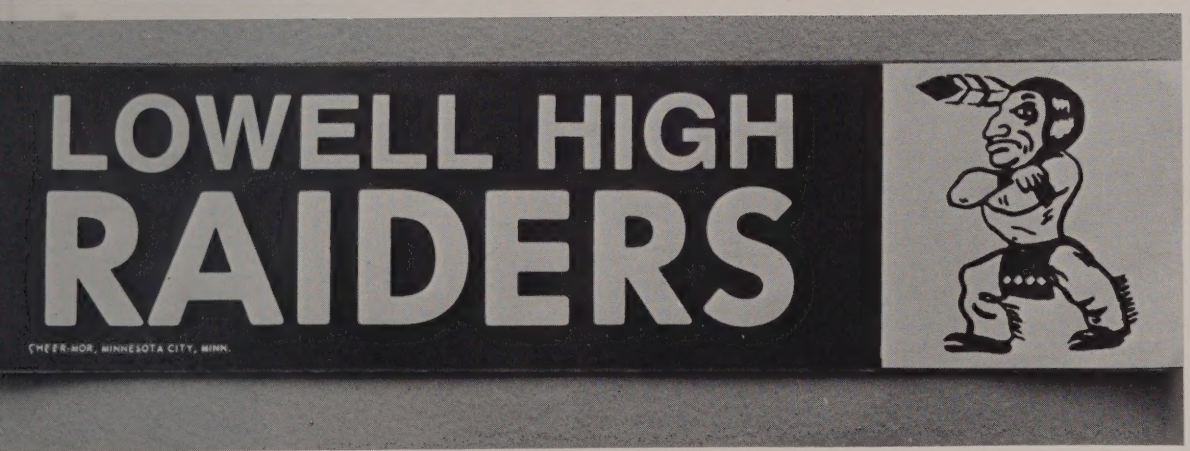
the snow storm May 9, 1977 . . . falling asleep in class . . . losing the key to your lock . . . going down to Guidance to visit a representative from a college that you've never heard of before . . . opening your locker and having all your books from the top shelf fall on your head . . .





Macbeth, Beowulf, and The Canterbury Tales . . . getting a library pass before 7:25 so you won't have to go to your study hall . . . The Harvest . . . 3 and 3 . . . DECA . . . The Review . . . saying the Pledge of Allegiance every now and then . . . the change in the Attendance Policy . . . getting your license and asking for the car all in the same day . . .

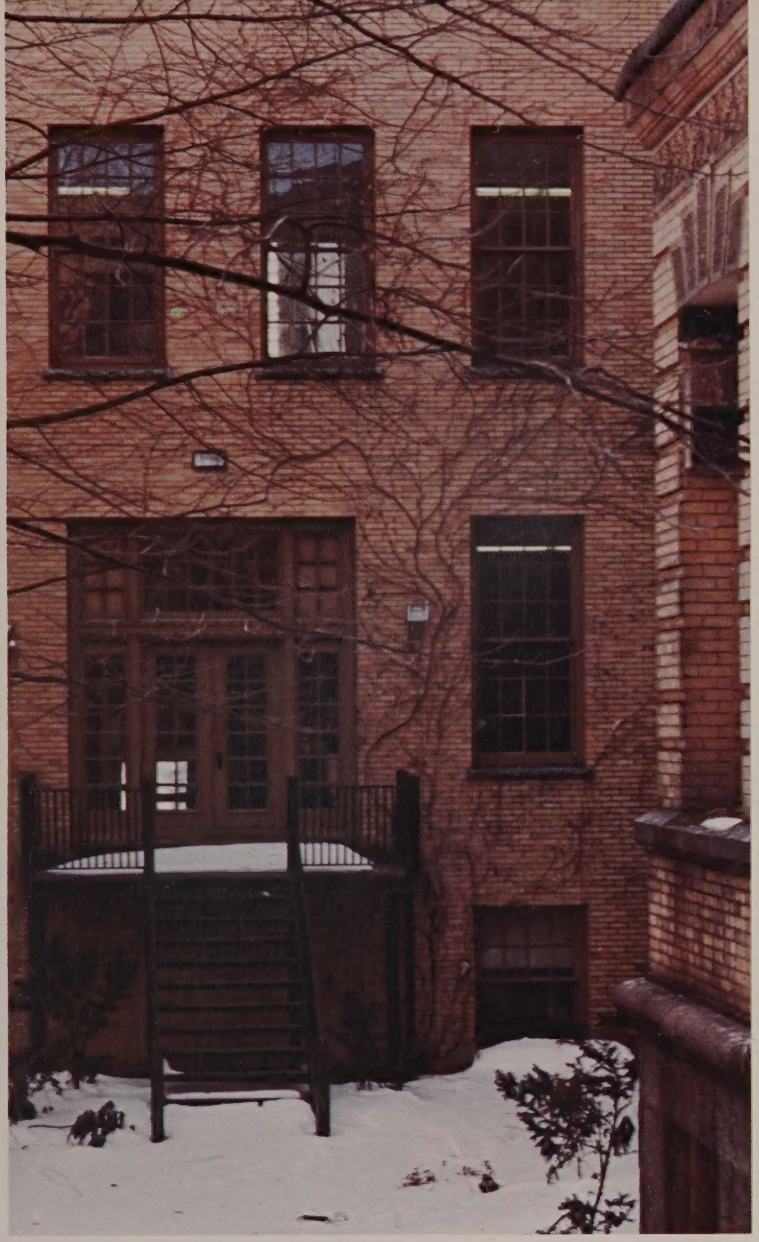
IBM computer cards . . . the terrible smell coming from the chem labs . . . "Raider Power" buttons and "Lowell High Raiders" bumper stickers . . . eating doughnuts in the caf before school . . . switching out of a class the second day of school . . . McDonald's — instant cure for "the munchies" . . . SAT's and ACH's . . . M&M's . . .



corridor passes . . . the "warning" bell . . . learning how to type the correct way . . . pep rallies and decorating cars on Lucy Larcom before football games . . . the record breaking snow storm on February 6 & 7 that got us out of school but prevented us from driving anywhere . . . fire drills in the winter . . .

coming in late to miss a test first period . . . wearing Levi's and rugby shirts . . . wishing you were 18 . . . the temperature at LHS being either too hot or too cold . . . being elected to the National Honor Society . . . skipping Physics, then seeing your Physics teacher in the hall . . . trying to hold back the tears at graduation . . . going to Boston for a concert . . . "P stands for Party" . . . half year courses . . . getting measured for caps and gowns . . . getting "psyched" for a game . . . the red and white letter jackets . . . thinking up excuses to get out of the homeroom study before lunch . . . Kirk St . . .

skipping last period to go to the ULowell beer blast . . . learning the mass drill . . . waiting to hear "There will be no school all schools in Lowell." . . . the 5 day notice, the nine day notice . . . begging your Spanish teacher for a 65 . . . the Clock . . . talking on the phone when you should be doing your homework . . .



the courtyard most of us never saw . . . the jocks assembled on the first floor cross-corridor watching the girls go by . . . counting down the months, weeks, and days until school got out . . . saving your money for the prom . . . going to the basketball games, then to the Walbrook . . . no food left by senior lunch . . .

the double periods of chemistry and biology . . . listening to "To Dream the Impossible Dream" before a football game . . . trying out for the play . . . longing for summer, then wanting to go back to Lowell High.

september

Tryouts sophomore year . . . new uniforms . . . football, basketball, and hockey games . . . Maureen Meehan's party . . . Captain Karen Woolfall . . . cheering for the State Wrestling Champs . . . The 1977 LHS football team, from its 8-8 opening tie with Chelmsford to its eventual romp over Lawrence 28-0 on Thanksgiving Day, gave Coach Walter Nelson his second winning season in his two years as Head Coach. The squad, led by Senior Captain Steve LaFortune, rushed its way to its first win at Nashua over the Panthers by one touchdown. Quarterback Pete Martin had no difficulty in finding receivers Tom Torrisi and Junior Dan McCafferty nor did he find any defense too powerful a threat to star running back Tony Coleman.

Other senior team members include: Buster Nugent, Mark Carney, Nick Soukaras, Mike Jenoski, Frank Polak, Daryl Winters, Mike Stuer, and Phil Lyons. The final season record was 6-3-1.

Coach John Lang's Cross Country team spent most of the cold autumn days running their 8 mile practice routes and doing grueling wind sprints out at the Stadium. Under the leadership of Co-captains Phil Maia and Ron McCullough, this year's team finished off the 1977-1978 season with a record of 4-4-1. While Lowell's seniors won many first, second, and third place medals, the Kirk St. underclassmen showed their coach that he would have much to be proud of next fall. This year certainly was a year of new dimensions in sports for Lowell High, and Cross Country was the leader in this category. For the first time in the school's long history of sports the Lowell High hurriers chalked up a tie! Coach John (feet) Lang, who has been involved with Lowell High Track since he ran for the team in 1939, said that he had never before seen a tie in a Cross Country meet.

Band

The Band with its membership of 75 students worked diligently this year practicing every day and once a week after school to prepare themselves for a variety of concerts. Such concerts include performing at school assemblies, for the Greek Independence Day ceremony, at Activities Night, football games, and in The Music Man.

Senior Louis Stamas represented Lowell High this year at the Massachusetts State District Competition. The 1977-78 Band, under the direction of William Notini and Albert Gougeon was a credit to Lowell High and the city of Lowell.

For the first time, a volleyball team was formed at Lowell High. Although the team's record wasn't a winning one, it can be considered good for a first year team. Accomplishments of the team include placing the only three seniors, Dana Howe, Bev Richard, and Laurie Bellefeuille, on the Lowell Sun's list of volleyball All Stars. The team was coached by Mrs. Sue Olsen.

Junior Classical League

The Lowell High JCL this year had a group of over sixty active members under the very cooperative advisors Mrs. Grace Scanlan and Mr. Donald Bailey. Several events highlighted the year. In December the festive Saturnalia, held at the Prince Grotto, was a most enjoyable occasion. On May 13 JCL attended the Annual Mass. Junior Classical League Convention held in Ludlow, Mass. The opening event was the election of MJCL officers. For the first time a Lowell member, Craig Robbins, was elected to a state office, his position being Historian. Later, there were various events in Academics, Athletics, Art, and, of course, the traditional Chariot Race, for which Lowell received major awards. The final event of the year was a trip into Boston to view the exciting exhibit, "Pompeii A.D. 79" at the Museum of Fine Arts. Overall, they had a very successful year, one which they will always remember.

Saturnalia

The Saturnalia, an annual celebration which originated in ancient Rome, was celebrated by the Junior Classical League in early December. It was held at the Prince Grotto, in a very Roman atmosphere. Dressed in Roman garments they heard speeches and enjoyed dramatic performances by members of the JCL and musical renditions by members of the band and chorus. They ended the evening by eating a delicious Italian dinner.

Le Cercle Francais enjoys a wide variety of activities: publication of a program-membership book, a Christmas gourmet dinner, a St. Valentine's Day party, lessons in French folklore dancing and singing, cultural lectures on French literature, art and travel, films on French history of art, long visits to the Museum of Fine Arts, High Teas, dinners in authentic French restaurants, with the year's annual finale taking the form of a French cookout. And, to further reinforce the year's classroom instruction, Le Cercle Francais engages in a truly educational experience: a summer sejour to Paris and other significant environs of France.

Spanish Club

During the year the Spanish Club was small but enthusiastic. The program included a Christmas party with Spanish food prepared by the members, a Spanish Bingo party, and an enjoyable dinner at a Mexican restaurant in Boston.

The Chorus, under the direction of Mr. B. Douglas Townshend, performed in 40 concerts this year. At Christmas time they appeared in 25 concerts at rest homes, junior high schools, service organizations, banks, and malls. The high point of the second semester was Lowell High's musical, "The Music Man." The year came to an end for the seniors with their last performance on Graduation Day.

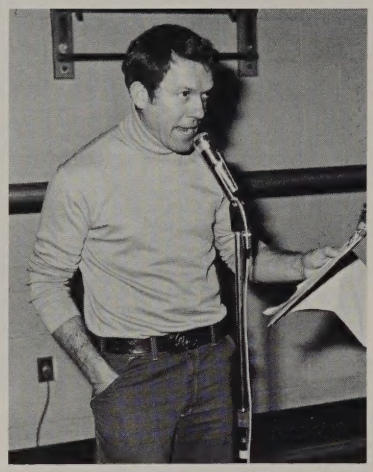
Wrestling



The 1978 Lowell High Wrestling team won its sixth Division 1 State High School Wrestling Championship at Springfield Cathedral High in February. This was a fantastic win for the Kirk Streeters, who totaled 88 team points, easily outclassing their closest competition.

Mike Stuer won an individual State Championship in the 170 pound class. Brian McMahon won the 115 pound State Championship, as well as winning the 1978 Division 1 New England Schoolboy Wrestling Championship in March.

The team itself placed second in the New Englands, came in first in the sectionals, and won the Wayland Tournament. Coaches Bossi and Urquhart led the team to an impressive 12-2-1 overall season record. Coach George Bossi, who has coached the LHS teams to all six of their State titles, was named "Coach of the Year" for the sixth time.

Girls' Basketball

In stride with the rest of the school's athletic teams, the Girls' Basketball Team had an extremely good season, missing the state tournament by only one loss. Co-captains Stephanie Dziegiel and Venus Soukaras led the girls to a winning 13-8 record.

The team played better than their record shows. Many of their losses were by one or two points, and one loss came in overtime. The schedule included MVC powerhouses Methuen, Lawrence, and Chelmsford, as well as first place Acton-Boxboro.

Only two seniors, Laurie Bellefeuille and Steph Dziegiel will be leaving the team.

Through the efforts of their 16 member team, the 1977-78 Girls' Gymnastics team ended their season with a successful 6-2 record.

The girls had a bit of trouble at the beginning of the season with eligibility rules, resulting in one of their senior tri-captains, Linda Cormier, being ruled ineligible to compete.

The other senior tri-captains, Lainey Neylon and Lisa Clay, led the team to the District Regional Meet on February 23.

Losing six seniors this year, Coach Oczkowski hopes to rebuild her team for next year.

This year's Boys' Basketball team made its way to the State Tournament. From its first big win over Arlington, at Arlington, to its eventual defeat at the hands of Andover in the State Quarterfinals, Charlie Ryan's hoopsters lost only 5 games in regular season play. Captains Courtney, Torrisi, and Theokas along with Tracy Mitchell and Nick Manolis made up this year's starting 5. Courtney was chosen as the Lowell Sun's "Player of the Year" and Mitchell was a Lowell High "All Star". With the load of talent Lowell High had, it was an easy task for Coach Ryan to utilize his power-stocked bench, with such aggressive players as Gary McDonough, Dave Oliver, and Kerry McMullen. The 1977-78 LHS Varsity Basketball team faired very well against other Eastern Massachusetts basketball squads and came out on top.

Hockey

The LHS Varsity Hockey team finished off its season with a 17-5 record. A new school record was set during the 16-5 romp over Notre Dame of Fitchburg. It was the first time in Lowell High School history that there were four "hat tricks" in one game.

Captain Rick Couillard and Co-Captains John Blazon, Rick Maloney, and Lou Simopoulos all helped this hard-hitting team to its winning season. Along with its trouncing of Notre Dame, the hockey squad chalked up an important win over Lawrence Voke, in which Mike Reilly scored the winning goal to put Lowell ahead 4-3 in the final seconds of the game.

Scott Bovill, (the season's high scorer — 36), Reilly, Couillard, and Tom McLeod were chosen for the C.A.C. All Star Team.

Peter S. Stamas Headmaster

A major part of your career development and personal life style development lies before you, but so much of what you will be is predicated on your past experience. With whatever shortcomings we at Lowell High School may have, we tried our best to help you to prepare for the future and now we wish you the very best. In a changing world and in a changing society, new and yet unidentified opportunities lie before you. Upon your graduation from high school, we hope you take with you a zest for life and an eagerness to seek out and avail yourselves of these exciting opportunities. GOOD LUCK and GOD BLESS YOU.

In Memoriam

Mary Gail Frawley

A lovely human being, a dedicated educator, and a woman of wit and wisdom left us in the fall of 1977.

Mary Gail Frawley graduated from Lowell High School in 1941, where her senior year she served as Lieutenant Colonel in the Girl Officers Regiment. In 1945 she received her Bachelor's Degree from Emerson.

Mrs. Frawley's love of children and humanity in general was the hallmark of her life. She gave of herself unstintingly, and she is sorely missed by students and faculty alike.

Charles Foley

The High School community was deeply saddened by the death this past April of Mr. Charles Foley.

Mr. Foley, son of the late Mr. Charles Foley, a former Submaster at Lowell High School, graduated from Lowell High School in the Class of 1941. He continued his education at Holy Cross College, receiving his Bachelor's Degree from that institution in 1952.

Upon graduation from Holy Cross, Mr. Foley entered the service of his country in the U.S. Marine Corps where he earned the rank of Captain.

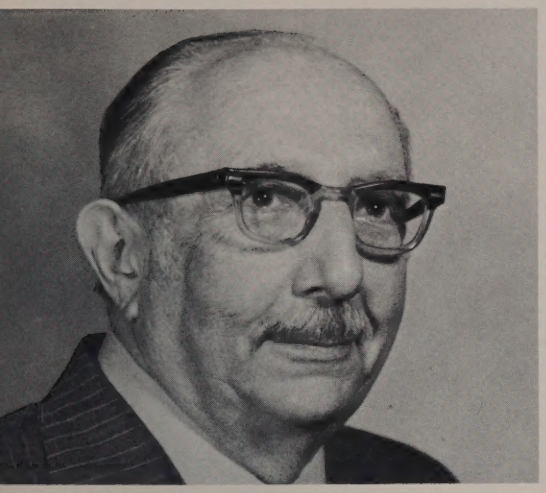
In 1959 Mr. Foley was awarded his Masters of Education Degree from Fitchburg State College.

Mr. Foley taught at Groton, where he was voted one of the Most Popular Teachers, before entering the Lowell public school system. He served as the Social Studies teacher at the Robinson School until coming to Lowell High as a teacher of History and Social Studies.

Although Mr. Foley had been at the high school only a short time, he had gained the respect of students, staff, faculty, and administration.

He was married and the father of three children. He had been active in youth activities in the Centraville section of the city for many years, as well as being a teacher and advocate of adult education.

Mr. Charles Foley — husband, father, scholar, patriot, teacher, concerned citizen — will be deeply missed by all of Lowell High School.



Jack J. Gordon

Jack Gordon joined the faculty of Lowell High School fifteen years ago after a successful career in the business world. A graduate of Temple University in Pennsylvania, Mr. Gordon brought to his Business Education classes a wealth of practical knowledge from his years of retail experience. His keen financial sense made him the envy of many fellow faculty members, and his ready smile and thoughtful nature made him popular with co-workers and students alike.

A devoted family man, Mr. Gordon looks to retirement as an opportunity to spend more time with his grandchildren. We wish him and his family many happy years in their new home in Florida.

M. Gladys Kennedy

A quiet, unassuming, efficient, dedicated but firm teacher who has given many years of service to Lowell High School, M. Gladys Kennedy was a highly respected member of the Business Department.

She was elected to the Lowell High School faculty in 1930 after graduating from Boston University. Many a student from Lowell High School can thank her for their excellent Foundation in Accounting.

The staff, faculty, and students of Lowell High School wish her good health and happiness for many years to come.

Paul V. McLaughlin

As the school year 1977-1978 drew to a close, a significant event took place. Dr. Paul V. McLaughlin, a respected member of our faculty, retired. He had labored in the vineyards of Lowell High School for forty-three years. During this time he offered his expertise to the Foreign Languages, Mathematics, and Business Departments. Thousands of students profited by their contact with the man they affectionately called "Doc".

Two years ago Dr. McLaughlin was severely injured in an automobile accident. His declining health necessitated his retirement in May. We will miss you, Paul. May you and Ora enjoy many happy years together.

Joseph F. Polak

Mr. Polak's career, to this point, began and ended in Lowell schools, from playing football here to an outstanding football career at the University of Georgia where he participated in the Orange and Rose Bowls while majoring in engineering, to a concurrent army career and eventual retirement as a colonel while following a fulfilling vocation as an exemplary teacher of physics and coaching football, and now, finally, to retirement to pursue his favorite avocation, the restoration of antiques. Our loss will be the gain of antique lovers everywhere. We wish him continued success in all his future endeavors.

On March 10, 1978 the student group Project Add held a public rally in support of City Council approval of a $2.5 million addition to a $14 million bond for the Lowell High School addition.

Although it was a Friday afternoon, as the 1:25 bell rang, over 500 students filed quickly out onto Lucy Larcom Park, then down Merrimack St. to the steps of City Hall.

There they were met by Student Council President Tom Hayes and City Manager William Taupier who both spoke in favor of the addition.

Besides the rally, Project Add collected signatures and attended Council meetings, arousing support for the addition. Their efforts were awarded with a bittersweet victory, as the City Council approved the extra money but cut the figure to $1.9 million.

Not shown: Tom Hayes.

LHS Officers' Ball

Flowers, long gowns and tuxedoes . . . all of these were part of the LHS Officers' Ball on March 3, 1978. The unexpected snowfall caused some difficulty (like trying to clean the snowy cars gracefully in tuxedoes), but the turnout was encouraging, despite the weather.

Smiles and whispers were accompanied by laughter and singing. Participants enjoyed a hearty meal with background music. After dinner, there was dancing to the music of The Works.

Looking back, fine memories distinguish the occasion — Boop Boop Be Doo, "Oblada . . . Life goes on", dancing in a circle, the Grand March, exchanged laughter, and a fun time.

Clockwise, from top right: Wally Cahill, Captain Karen MacLeod, Advisor Donna Bouchard and her husband; Karen Fitzsimmons and date; The Grand March; Cheryl Fallis and her date enjoy their meal; Lisa, is it true that talking to plants makes them grow?

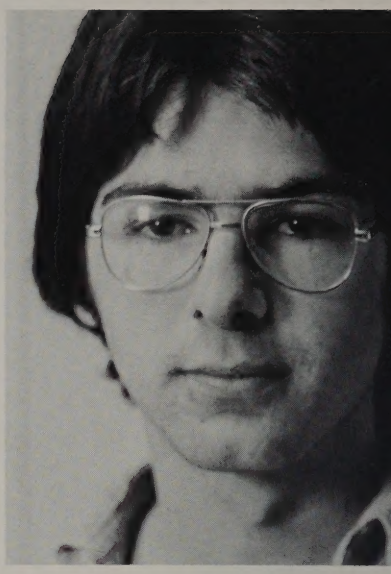
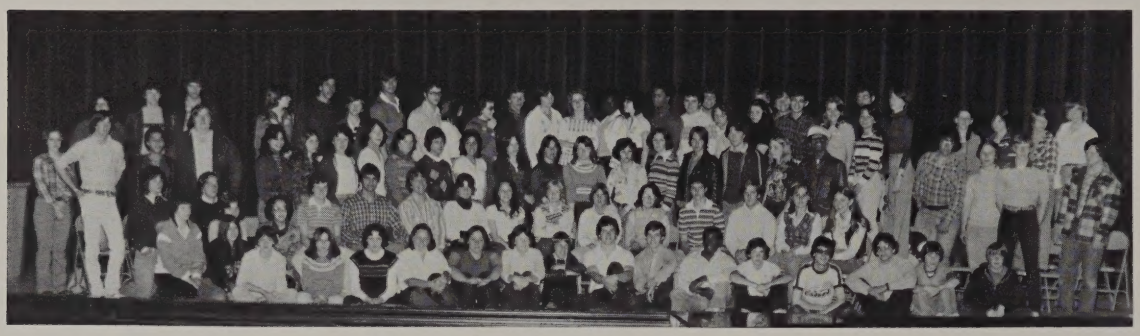
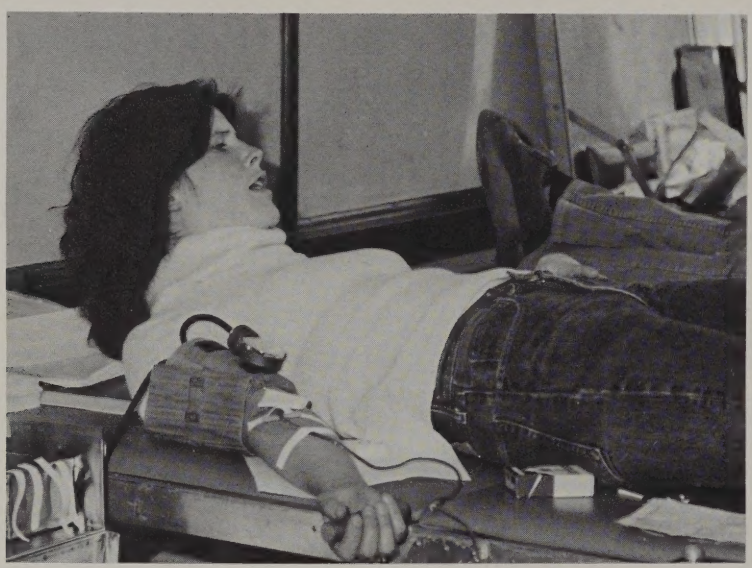
Student Council

The Student Council had a very active year. Two fund-raising dances, one held in February and the other in May at Cumnock Hall enabled the Student Council to award three seniors with scholarships.



Clockwise, from right: President Tom Hayes; Advisor Dr. Eugene Wood, Treasurer Venus Soukaras, Corresponding Secretary Craig Robbins, Vice President Sue Foley, Dean's Cabinet member Todd Beati; Kelly Boyle gives to the Student Council Blood Bank.





The Student Council also sponsored a Blood Bank, collecting almost 100 pints of blood from faculty and students.

An exchange program with Burlington High brought three Burlington students to the city of Lowell for a day, and six Lowell students to Burlington. Students toured the respective schools and learned about life in a city besides their own.

The Student Council also was responsible for bringing rock bands and guest speakers into LHS. Their efforts were enjoyed by all, as assemblies finally became interesting.

Their last project was scheduling all eighth grades in the city of Lowell for a tour of Lowell High to introduce incoming freshmen to the high school experience.

Roundball Night

In a hard-fought battle waged at the Scondras Gym the Lowell High Faculty was once again handed defeat by the somewhat younger and better-conditioned JV basketball players. Despite the faculty's valiant efforts the JV managed to win by ONE basket!

Age does have its advantages though, as the alumni were able to score a victory over the varsity team.

Clockwise, from left: nail-biting time; the JV team already overcome by laughter; desperation; Rick O'Brien puts one in; your mild-mannered chemistry teacher turned into — Super Jack!

Student Activities Night

On Thursday, March 30, the LHS Athletic Department sponsored their 3rd annual Student Activities Night at the Lowell Memorial Auditorium.

The evening began with a parade led by Donna Foley, colonel of the LHS officers, and Vida Shirazi, captain of the AFJROTC.

The program included routines by the LHS officers, as well as a rifle routine by the AFJROTC.

Students and teachers competed in a volleyball game, which was refereed by Mr. Stamas, and a tug-of-war. In both events the students came out victorious.

The cheerleaders and the band performed for the audience, and the girls' gymnastics team ended the evening gracefully with a skillful exhibition.

The Lowell High School Officers, under the guidance of Mrs. Donna Bouchard, sponsored two dances, did several community services, marched in the parade celebration for the Lowell Heritage Park, and were the guests of the Alumni Association at the Annual Alumni Banquet. Scholarships were awarded to Ginger Trudel, Lisa Clay, Alice Clark, Jean Vennard, Cheryl Soucy, and Nancy Carr at the Honor Day Ceremony. The eventful year came to a close with a cookout at Alice Clark's house.

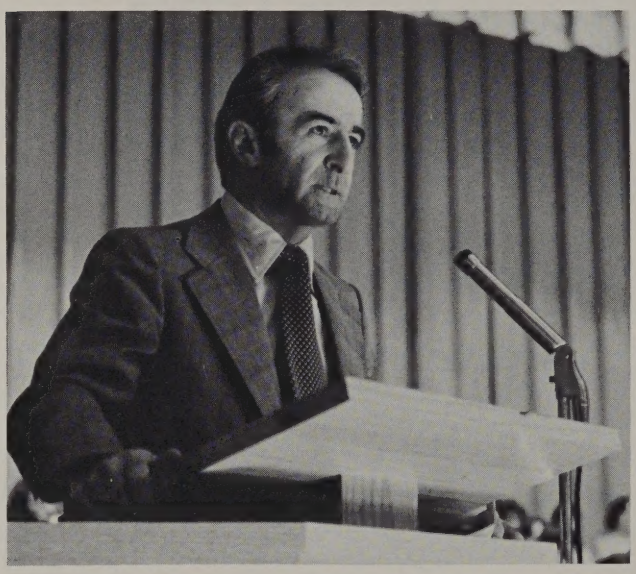
NHS

NHS Officers: President Debra Gallagher, Vice President Bettina Chlup, Secretary Ann Marie Dufresne, Treasurer Donna Foley



The National Honor Society had a very profitable year in '78-'79 under Advisor Grace Scanlan. They were able to award three scholarships of $100.00 each to senior members. The recipients of these scholarships were decided in an election held by the members.

NHS, setting a precedent for future members, also performed a public service by volunteering to do light shopping for shut-in nursing home residents.

The year was highlighted with the annual, traditional Induction Ceremony held on April 10.

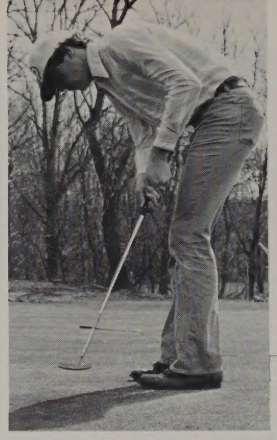
Golf

Mr. Joe Petros' LHS Golf Team had an outstanding 15-3-1 record, giving them entry into the Mass. State Tournament for the first time in five years. Sophomore Mike Reilly sparked the team with an excellent record of 11 wins. Captains John Blazon and Barry Connolly had five wins each, and veteran Daryl Winters, six. The underclassmen John Conway, Dave Ferry, Paul Slattery, and Reilly proved to be the surprising nucleus on this team, which has great hopes of bringing the State Championship to Lowell High.



Counterclockwise, from above: Daryl Winters tees off; John Conway surveys the scene; Captain John Blazon; Paul Slattery sinks a putt.

While the Girls' Softball Team improved on last year's record, they still showed room for improvement. New red and white uniforms brought color to St. Louis Field, where the girls played their home games.

Senior veterans Dana Howe and LaVerne Carkin added skill and humor to the team's second year. Coaches Sue Callahan and Ric O'Brien are looking forward to a better season next year.

Because so much enthusiasm was shown for girls' softball, enough girls tried out to form a JV team, which was coached by Sue Olsen. The JV fared better than their varsity counterparts.

The LHS Baseball Team had a very successful season. They finished with a 14-6 record, enabling them to enter the State Tournament where they were eliminated in a close contest. Dan McHale led the hurlers with a 5-1 record and a 1.93 E.R.A. Scott Merrill finished 5-2, while Larry Machado and Jim Shaughnessy also starred on the mound. Captain Peter Martin led the team with 25 hits and a .390 B.A. Captains Dave Camacho and Wilba Simmons were outstanding hitters along with McHale and Machado. Allaround efforts came from Phil Lyons and John McNamara, while Bill Reilly excelled on defense.

THE MUSIC MAN

The Music Man was performed on May 4th and 5th by the LHS choral arts and drama departments under the direction of Mr. Michael Sokolowski and Mr. B. Douglas Townshend.

Janine Graham charmed the audience with her performance of Marion Paroo, the librarian; and Fred Gallagher was cunning and smooth as Professor Harold Hill, the traveling salesman. Cindy Hines was excellent as Mrs. Paroo and Sally Stickney added laughs as the mayor's wife.

It was a heart-warming love story, enjoyed by audiences on both nights.

From above, clockwise: Marion, Janine Graham, is disgusted with Professor Harold Hill; excitement about the Well's Fargo Wagon; Mrs. Paroo, Cindy Hines, sings "If you don't mind my saying so . . . "; dancing in the library.

"; the quartet performs "Lida Rose".

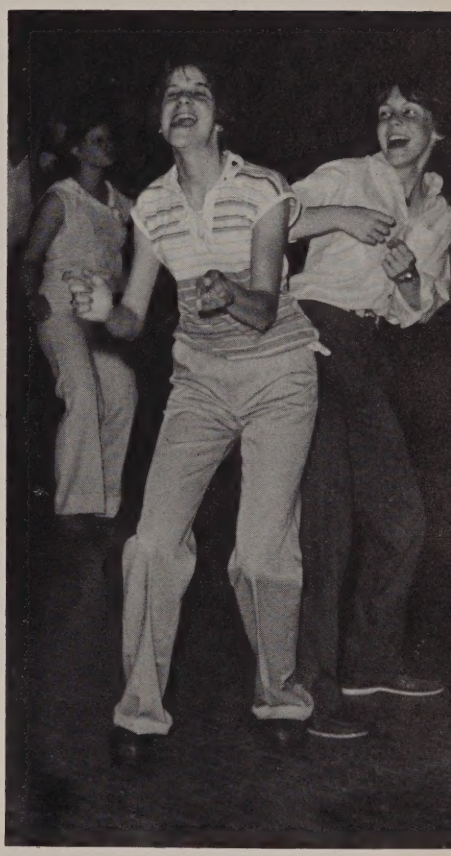
Disco Dances



A Valentine's Day Dance and a Spring Dance, sponsored by the Student Council, raised enough money for the Student Council to award 3 seniors with scholarship money.

Students packed Cumnock Hall for both events. The dances provided an evening of fun and dancing as students boogied to music provided by WLLH disc-jockeys.

Boys' Track

Although the Boys' Track Team did not compile an impressive record, their year was marked by outstanding individual performances. Sophomore Tracy Mitchell was a frequent winner in the high jump and 330 low hurdles, and in his specialty, the long jump, he was fourth in the state and third in New England. Junior Mike Jankowski also excelled in the 100 yard dash.

In indoor track Tim Phelps and Joe Suslovitch were the outstanding performers. Sophomore Phelps was fourth in the state in the mile and Suslovitch reached the state semifinals in the high hurdles. Both standouts were Sun All Stars.

The team was led by Coach John Lang and Senior Tri-Captains Ron McCullough, Phil Maia, and Joe Suslovitch.

The Boys' Tennis Team, led by Coach Russ Vitalo, compiled a successful 6-4 record in '78. Captain Bob Oliver had built up a 23 match winning streak over three years which was snapped in mid-season. However, Oliver posted a 9-1 record at first singles, as did second singles man Bob Poitras. Third singles John Dougherty and the first and second doubles tandems also had fine seasons.

Honor Day

On May 26 Lowell High School combined the Memorial Day Ceremony with the annual Honor Day Exercises. Along with remembering and honoring our war dead Lowell High honored outstanding students for their achievements.

Among Valedictorian Lynn Miller's awards were the Quota Club Award, the Bausch & Lomb Honor Award for the highest ranking student in Honors and Advanced Placement Science courses, the Lowell Institution for Savings Scholarship, the Dr. Joseph P. Sweeney Memorial Scholarship for excellence in science, and the LHS Achievement Award for Math.

Salutatorian Thomas Letsou was awarded a prize for excellence in French from the Northeast Conference on the Teaching of Foreign Languages, the Francis P. McHugh Scholarship, and the General George Patton Scholarship.

Also awarded the Patton Scholarship was Tia Chlup. Along with it Tia received an AAUW Scholarship and the LHS Achievement Award for Latin.

Lea Doulaveris also received an AAUW Scholarship along with the Dolores M. Regan Memorial Scholarship for a graduate of the Daley School.

Lea, Lynn, and Sue Kyriakou were recipients of the Middlesex Women's Club Scholarship.

Lea, Nancy Boucher, Gary Jarek, Anthony Coleman, and Dave Lefebvre all received Wang Laboratory Scholarships. Dave also received the High School Alumni Association Prize for excellence in Math.

In the Business Department, the Alice F.D. Pearson Medals for excellence in Business went to Mary Donovan for Stenography and Anthony Stairs for Accounting.

The LHS Achievement Award for Business went to Michelle Nielsen. Richard Boisvert accepted the Union National Band Award for Accounting and Debra Berube, the UNB Award for Stenography.

In the area of music, the Class Odist Award went to Karen Harvey. The Choral Arts Scholarships were accepted by Terence McCarron and Louis Stamas. The LHS Faculty Club Music Award was presented to Christopher Selvaggio. The LHS Achievement Award for Band went to Terence McCarron and the Attendance Award was given to Jean Donovan. Rounding off this group of talented recipients were David Jenkins and Janine Graham, who received the Alumni Players Prize for Best Actor and Best Actress.

Other local scholarships included: the Digital Equipment Corporation 1978 Scholarship to Sue Kyriakou, Sheldon Chapman, and Ann Marie Dufresne; the Lowell Rotary Club Scholarships to Ann Marie Dufresne and Sue Kyriakou; the LHS Student Council Scholarships to Tia Chlup, John Martel, and Tom Hayes; the National Honor Society Scholarships to Tia Chlup, Linda Boley, and Anne McNamara; and the Lowell College Club Scholarships — the Mary O'Meara Award to Joan Abrams and scholarships to Anne McNamara and Donna Foley.

On the national level, National Merit Commended Students were Sheldon Chapman and Daryl Winters. Recipients of National Merit Letters of Commendation were Debra Gallagher, Edward Hogan, Kevin Kelly, David Lefebvre, Lynn Miller, Michael Stuer, and Virginia Tarbell.

Riddick Memorial Scholarship; Mr. Townshend awards Karen Harvey the Class Odist Award; Sue Kyriakou receives a Digital Equipment Corp. Scholarship from Mr. John McDonald; Tom Letsou accepts his Patton Scholarship.

A very significant award made its debut this year. Three scholarships were given to those students who exemplified the qualities of the late football Coach Raymond E. Riddick. A $1,000 scholarship was awarded to Peter Martin, and two $500 awards went to Maureen Raymond and Anne McNamara.

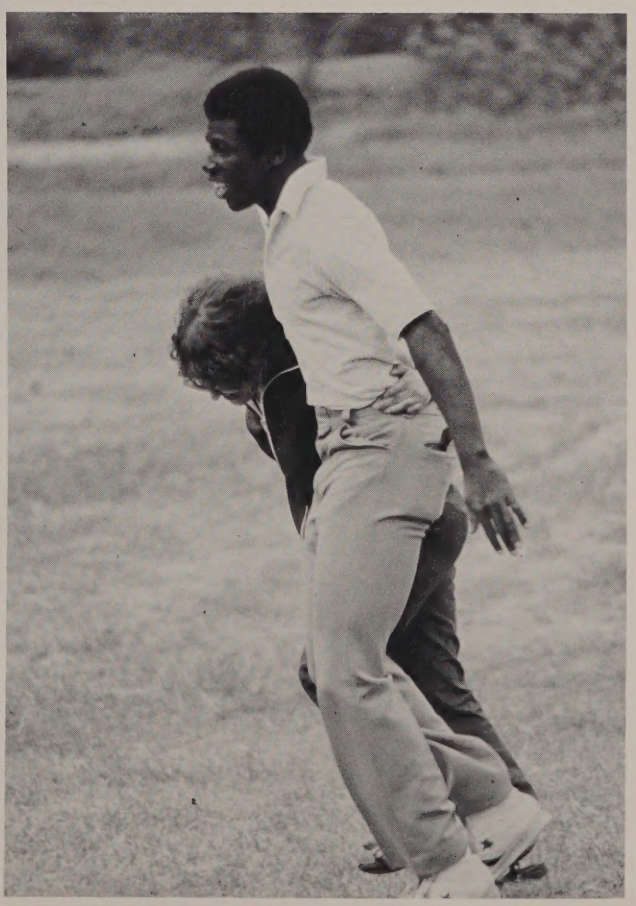
The Senior Class Outing, held on the Regatta Festival Grounds on Pawtucket Boulevard, was a success despite the stormy weather.

What was planned as a day-long affair actually turned into two days of picnicking, athletic competition, and festivities along the river.

About 300 showed up early on the first day to eat hot dogs and ice cream and enjoy the music of "Crystal T," but a constant downpour sent many home, and made it impossible for music and sailing. For those who decided to stay, events were held as scheduled, and various co-ed games, (with money as prizes), kept all entertained and amused.

Senior Outing



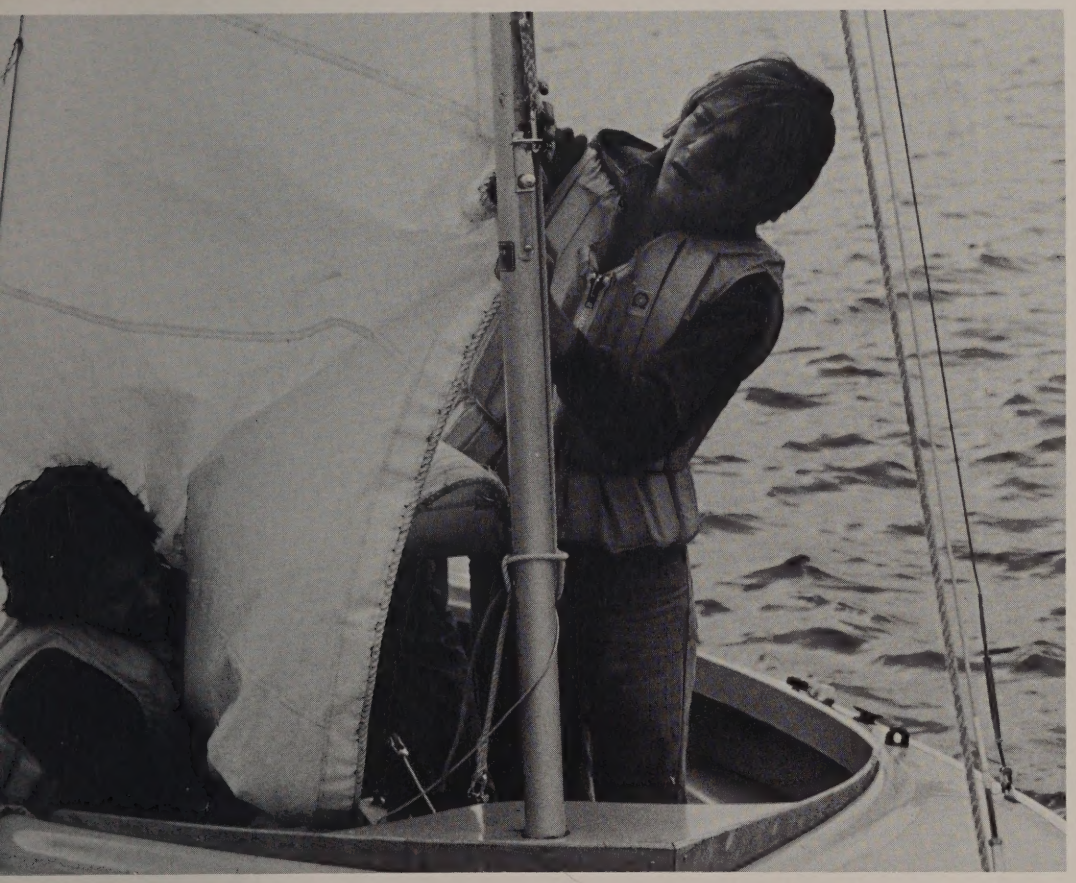
Senior athletes (?) showed their endurance by participating in a three-legged race, tugs-of-war, and volleyball games throughout a streaming downpour. Everyone was soaked, but the rain did not dampen the spirit.

The clouds broke about midafternoon, and the sun came out to warm shivering seniors. The climax of the outing came when a four inning co-ed softball game went eleven innings because neither team could score! The game provided many laughs for all as players tried to run through wet, slippery grass. The surprise of the day had to be the unexpected talent of Russell (or was it Ronald?) Jay as he scored the winning run.

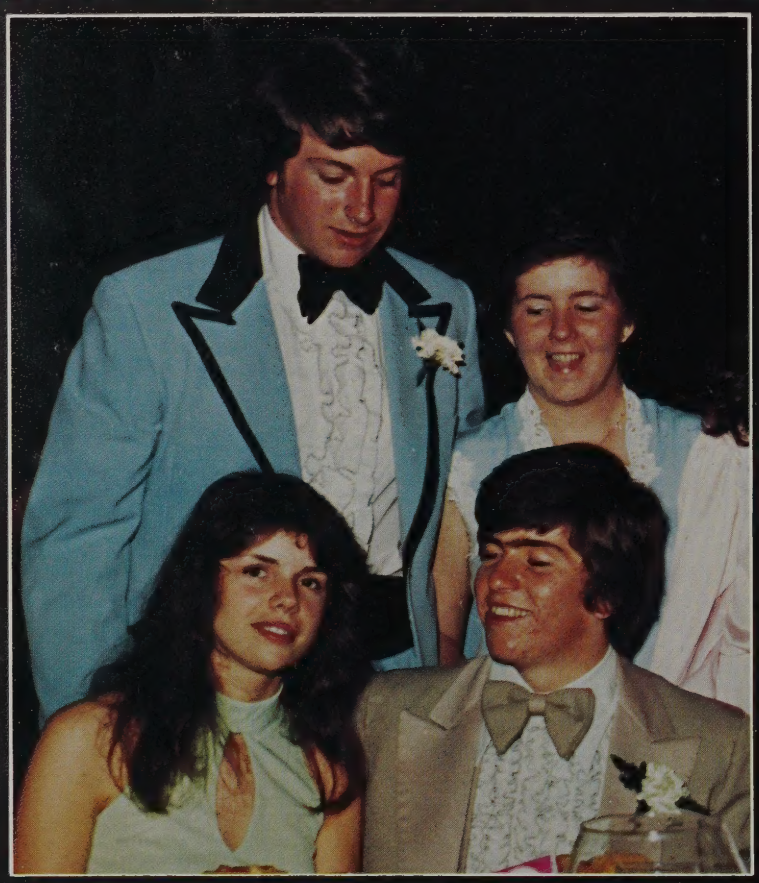
When the game was done it was dry enough for the band to play.

Seniors ended their outing by relaxing and drying out to the music of "Crystal T." The next day it was back to the grounds to finish the volleyball and softball tournaments.

The Senior Class Outing turned out to be lots of fun and laughs for those who didn't mind a little rain. It also brought out some talent which went undetected for four years at LHS.



Senior Prom



On Wednesday, June 7, Lowell High School held its Senior Prom at the Chateau de Ville in Framingham.

The Prom . . . dancing to the music of "Mixed Bag" . . . dashing through the pouring rain from car to entrance and back again . . . waiting in line for pictures . . . top hats and capes . . . Congratulations to all members of the Class of '78! Especially to that stalwart group who assembled daily in Room 204, in the third hour, and who proved to be:

Always Prepared
Amazingly Proficient
and Amost Perfect

Best wishes from their (almost)
Aways Patient Teacher
